Introduction

The Allerdale Housing Strategy 2016-2021 documents those steps that Allerdale Borough Council intends to take in order to realise its vision for private sector housing: "Improving Housing – Improving Lives". The aim of the Private Sector Housing team is to improve the standard of private sector housing through inspecting properties, processing licence applications, bringing empty properties back into use, providing advice to owners and landlords, signposting to grant assistance, encouraging and promoting good practice, investigating possible offences and, where appropriate, taking enforcement action.

A key factor which will enable the Council to achieve this lies in its ability to regulate conditions within the private rented sector, which makes up more than 16% of all private sector homes in the borough.

We expect landlords to comply with the law and proactively manage their properties to ensure that they provide a safe environment for any potential occupier and their visitors. Where individuals or companies are failing in their responsibilities and duties, the Council will take enforcement action that will achieve measurable improvements to housing standards.

The Council will provide advice and guidance to assist landlords in complying with their legal requirements. The Council will seek to help with opportunities for landlords to develop their knowledge and understanding, which should reduce the risk of enforcement action being taken. The Council will provide this support through regular newsletters, landlord forums, and landlord training sessions.

Although our work is primarily focused upon the private rented sector, there are circumstances in which we deal with complaints relating to owner occupied and housing association properties.

Summary of the Enforcement Policy

The aim of this policy is to set out clearly the way in which the Council intends to secure effective compliance with legislation. It is intended to provide an overview of the principles and processes that will apply when officers decide whether to take enforcement action with respect to any given case. It sets out what owners, landlords, their agents and tenants of private sector properties can expect from officers within the Private Sector Housing Team.

Our objectives are to ensure that:

- Private tenants and tenants of registered social landlords live in homes that are free of unacceptable hazards;
- All Houses in Multiple Occupation (HMO's) are safe, well managed and all relevant Management Regulations are adhered to;
- All licensable Houses in Multiple Occupation are licensed and all licensing conditions are met;
- Private housing is not left empty for an unreasonable amount of time and/or becomes a nuisance to neighbouring properties;
- Privately owned property does not present a statutory nuisance to other land owners and does not directly or indirectly present an unacceptable risk to public health, safety or the environment; and
- The Council meets its statutory obligations in relation to private housing.

Where enquiries are beyond the remit of the Private Sector Housing Team, advice and signposting will be offered. Any areas that are not included within the policy will be determined on a case-by-case basis, having regard to the relevant legislation and available guidance.

Principles of Good Enforcement

This policy has been developed in line with the principles of good enforcement set out in the Regulators' Compliance Code and the Enforcement Concordat.

The Private Sector Housing Team will enforce the law efficiently and effectively without imposing unnecessary burdens on responsible owners and occupiers. In doing so, it will have regard to the role of inspections, compliance visits, advice and guidance, and the principles underpinning enforcement activity.

- Benefits to the Local Economy - Allerdale Borough Council aims to create areas where people want to live, bring up their children and work. Maintaining healthy housing and attractive neighbourhoods will benefit the local economy.

- Property Inspections and Compliance Visits - The Private Sector Housing Team will undertake proactive property inspections, based on risk and intelligence, and ensure that its resources are targeted at the worst properties first. Officers will target empty properties in order to improve neighbourhoods and increase the supply of housing. We will respond to residents' complaints about substandard, unsafe and problematic private housing and adopt an escalating regulatory approach to enforcement.
- Advice and Guidance - The Council will provide general information, advice and guidance to make it easier for landlords and agents to understand and meet their responsibilities. This will normally be provided through the Council's website: www.allerdale.gov.uk The Council will also provide support through regular newsletters, landlord forums, the provision of landlord training sessions and the promotion of the Cumbria Landlord Accreditation Scheme (CLAS).

Principles underpinning Enforcement Action

The Council's Private Sector Housing Enforcement Policy is based on the following principles:

- Openness – We will provide clear information in plain English about the rules and regulations that we have a duty to enforce. We will discuss these and aim to explain straightforwardly how legislation can be complied with. Officers will clearly distinguish between legal requirements and recommendations, both in terms of their own work, and what is expected of stakeholders.
- Proportionality – Enforcement action will be proportionate and reflect the nature, scale and seriousness of any breach or non-compliance.
- Fairness and objectivity – Enforcement action will be based on the individual circumstances of the case, taking all available facts into account. Officers will carry out investigations with a balanced and open mind.
- Transparency – Enforcement action will be undertaken in accordance with clearly defined policies and procedures that are readily available. All communications will be easy to understand, with clear reasons being given for any enforcement action taken.
- Consistency – Whilst the team will apply judgement and discretion to individual circumstances, we will have clear procedures in place to ensure the approach to enforcement is consistent throughout the team. We will work with other regulatory agencies and share and develop good practice.
- Accountability – We will provide you with information on how you can make complaints or appeal against the enforcement action that we take.

Working in partnership

Cases will often arise where the Private Sector Housing team and another partner organisation both have or share an enforcement role. We will liaise with that body to ensure effective co-ordination, to avoid inconsistencies and to ensure that enforcement action is appropriate to the circumstances of the incident. Where it is appropriate, the service shall share and receive information with organisations including, but not limited to:

- Police
- Fire Service
- Adult Social Care
- HMRC
- Revenues and Benefits
- Health Service

Regard will always be had to the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Powers of Entry

Where a complaint of housing disrepair is received and an inspection is required, a notice of entry is required to be served under section 239 of the Housing Act 2004. This informs all relevant interested parties of the Council intended inspection.

If the complaint is of an urgent nature and the Council intend to use its emergency powers this will negate the need for the service of a section 239 notice.

Where the Council are unable to gain access using a notice of entry or such notice would defeat the object of entry the Council are able to apply to the Magistrates Court for a warrant to enter.

What is expected of tenants?

Before considering taking any action in respect of a tenanted property the tenant(s) will normally be required to contact their landlord about the problems first. This applies to all tenants. Landlords can only carry out their obligations under the legislation once they have been made aware of the problem. Tenants will be offered advice involving how to write to their landlord detailing their complaint. Standard letter templates will be provided as required and will be available on our website.

Situations where a service to tenants is not provided

- Where the tenant(s) unreasonably refuse access to the landlord, managing agent or landlord's contractor, to arrange or carry out works;
- Where the tenant(s) have, in the opinion of the council, clearly caused the damage to the property that they are complaining about, and there are no other items of disrepair;
- Where the tenant(s) have been aggressive, threatening, verbally or physically abusive towards Officers;
- Where there is found to be no justification for the complaint, on visiting the property;
- Where the service has determined that the complaint is vexatious.

What types of enforcement action will the Council use?

In ensuring that the main objective of enforcement action is achieved, the Council will consider all appropriate enforcement actions available to it. Appropriate enforcement action that can be taken includes but is not limited to:

- Written warnings;
- Statutory notices or orders under part 1 of the Housing Act 2004 and other relevant legislation;
- Works in default;
- Revoking or varying licences;
- Civil penalty notice;
- Rent repayment orders;
- Simple cautions;
- Criminal proceedings (e.g. prosecution);
- Interim or final management orders;
- Banning Orders.

One or more of the above actions may be taken simultaneously depending on the circumstances of the case.

Legislation

The Housing Act 2004, ("the Act"), together with Regulations made under it, prescribes the Housing Health and Safety Rating System as the means by which local authorities assess housing conditions and decide on action to deal with poor housing. It is an evidence based risk assessment system, which looks at the likely effect of housing conditions on the health of occupiers. 29 potential hazards are assessed and scored for their severity. Any defect in a property may give rise to one or more of these hazards.

The score resulting from an assessment will place the hazard in a hazard banding between A and J. Hazards in bands A to C are classed as Category 1 hazards and those in bands D to J are classed as Category 2 hazards. The Council must take appropriate action in respect of a Category 1 hazard and may do so in respect of a Category 2 hazard.

For the purposes of assessing the hazard, it is assumed that the dwelling is occupied by the class of occupier who is most vulnerable to that hazard, as determined by the guidance. However, in determining the most appropriate course of action to take, regard is had to the current and likely occupiers and visitors, the views of the occupiers and whether multiple hazards are present.

The Housing and Planning Act 2016 confers additional enforcement powers as discussed elsewhere in this policy.

Enforcement Action

It is for the Council to determine what the most appropriate course of action in relation to a hazard is. Consideration is given to all relevant factors of the case, to published guidance from central government and professional organisations and to the views of owners and tenants.

The forms of appropriate enforcement action set out in the Housing Act 2004 are as follows:

Hazard Awareness Notice (HAN)

- Hazard Awareness Notice relating to Category 1 Hazards; section 28
- Hazard Awareness Notice relating to Category 2 Hazards; section 29

A Hazard Awareness Notice is used where a more serious form of action is not considered appropriate. It does however act as a formal way of drawing attention to the need for remedial action. The notice is not registered as a land charge and there is no appeal procedure.

Improvement Notice (IN)

- Improvement Notice relating to Category 1 hazards; section 11
- Improvement Notice relating to Category 2 hazards; section 12

An Improvement Notice requires the specified remedial works to be carried out within a timescale set out in the notice. This must give the person on whom the notice is served a reasonable opportunity to do the work. The notice cannot require work to start earlier than 28 days after the service of the notice. There is a 21 day appeal period.

Prohibition Order (PO)

- Prohibition Order relating to Category 1 Hazards; s20
- Prohibition Order relating to Category 2 Hazards; s21

A Prohibition Order may prohibit the occupation or use for a specified purpose of part or all of the premises. A Prohibition Order may be appropriate where serious hazards exist, but remedial action is impossible or impractical. It may also limit the use of part or all of the premises by specific groups of people or to a specified number of people. Normally, a prohibition order becomes operative 28 days after service.

Improvement Notices or Prohibition Orders may be suspended where action can be postponed for a specific time or until a specified event, for example where there is a change in occupation of a property.

Emergency Remedial Action; s40

The Council has the discretion to take emergency remedial action against Category 1 hazards which present an imminent risk of serious harm to the occupier. The action will consist of whatever remedial action the Council considers necessary to remove an imminent risk of serious harm.

The Council must serve a notice of emergency remedial action within seven days of taking action. The notice must specify the nature of the hazard, the deficiency giving rise to the hazard and the date when the action was or is to be started. The notice must also contain information about the right to appeal.

Emergency Prohibition Order; s43

The Council has the discretion to make an emergency prohibition order against category 1 hazards which present an imminent risk of serious harm to the occupiers. The order may prohibit the use of all or any part of a premise with immediate effect. The order must specify the nature of the hazard and any remedial action which would result in the order being revoked. The order must also contain information about the right to appeal.

Demolition Orders to deal with premises affected by Category 1 hazards

Demolition Orders are available under Part 9 of the Housing Act 1985 as amended, as a possible response to a Category 1 hazard. A demolition order requires the property to be vacated within a specified time and subsequently demolished. It is a criminal offence to allow a premise to be occupied under a demolition order has come into effect. Should the building not be demolished the Council can demolish it and recharge the person upon whom the notice was served.

Clearance Areas to deal with premises affected by Category 1 hazards

A clearance area is an area to be cleared of all buildings. A clearance area under Part 9 of the Housing Act 1985 can be declared if the Council is satisfied that each of the residential buildings in the area contains one or more Category 1 hazards (or that the buildings are dangerous or harmful to the health or safety of the occupiers as a result of their bad arrangement or the narrowness or bad arrangement of the streets) and any other buildings in the area are dangerous or harmful to the inhabitants. The Council is required to consult on the declaration of a clearance of an area and publish its intentions.

Rights of Appeal

There is a right of appeal against most notices, orders or decisions made by the Council. Where there is an appeal, the appropriate authority may confirm, quash, vary or suspend any notice, order or decision.

Vacated Properties with Statutory Notice

In cases where properties are subject to statutory notice and the property is subsequently vacated, all notices or orders will be reviewed to consider whether they may be varied, suspended or revoked. The Council will seek to deter landlords from undertaking retaliatory eviction and will not consider that removal of a tenant achieves compliance with any notice served, except in overcrowding situations where it was a specific requirement of the notice.

Works in Default

Where the person(s) responsible has failed to comply with an enforcement notice which requires works to be completed, the Council may carry out those works instead; these are known as works in default. This may be done either with or without the agreement of the person(s) on whom the notice was served. The Council will seek to recover the costs incurred in undertaking works.

Revoking / Varying a Licence

Where a property is licenced under Part 2 or Part 3 of the Housing Act 2004, the Council has the power to revoke or vary the licence.

Licences can be revoked where any term of the licence has been breached or where other offences have been committed which mean that the persons involved are no longer fit and proper persons for the purposes of housing licensing.

Licence can also be revoked by the agreement of the licence holder for example where the property is sold or where the licence holder wishes to relinquish the licence.

Licences can be varied where there has been a change of circumstances at the property and this includes the discovery of breaches or offences committed by persons involved with the licence or management of the property.

Where a licence holder is made the subject of a Banning Order under Section 16 of the Housing and Planning Act 2016, the Council is under a duty to revoke any licences they hold. This part of the Housing and Planning Act is not yet in force.

Civil Penalties

The power to impose civil penalties as an alternative to prosecution for specific offences under the Housing Act 2004 was introduced by section 126 and Schedule 9 of the Housing and Planning Act 2016. The offences for which a civil penalty can be imposed are as follows:

- Failure to comply with an Improvement Notice (section 30);
- Offences in relation to the licensing of HMOs (section 72);
- Offences in relation to licensing of houses under Part 3 of the Act (section 95);
- Offences of contravention of an overcrowding notice (section 139);
- Failure to comply with management regulations in respect of HMOs (section 234).

The same criminal standard of proof is required for a civil penalty as for a criminal prosecution. A civil penalty can be imposed for up to £30,000 per offence. Each individual breach of the management regulations (section 234) is treated as a separate offence. The exact amount of any civil penalty will be calculated in accordance with the Council's 'Civil Penalties Enforcement Guidance' document.

The Council will consider its enforcement options on a case by case basis and may decide that a significant financial penalty (or penalties if there have been several breaches), rather than prosecution is the most appropriate and effective sanction.

Where the Council is satisfied that there is sufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction, but that it is not considered in the public interest to seek to remove the landlord from the market by way of a banning order, the Council will consider imposing a civil penalty as an alternative to prosecution.

Prior to imposing a civil penalty, the Council will serve a notice of intent and this will give the recipient an opportunity to make representations against the proposed civil penalty.

Rent Repayment Orders

Where housing benefit has been paid to a landlord and the Council is satisfied that the landlord has committed one or more specific offences, the Council can apply for a Rent Repayment Order. Where the landlord is convicted of one of the relevant offences, the Council is under a duty to consider applying for a Rent Repayment Order. The specific offences for which an order can be sought are as follows:

- Failure to comply with an Improvement Notice (Housing Act 2004, Section 30)
- Failure to comply with a Prohibition Order (Housing Act 2004, Section 32)
- Offences in relation to licensing of HMO's (Housing Act 2004, Section 72)
- Offences in relation to licensing of houses under Part 3 of the Act (Housing Act 2004, Section 95)
- Breach of a Banning Order (Housing and Planning Act 2016, Section 21)
- Using violence to secure entry to a property (Criminal Law Act 1977, Section 6)
- Illegal eviction or harassment of the occupiers (Protection from Eviction Act 1977, Section 1)

The Council will usually apply for the full amount that can be recovered and lesser amounts will only be sought in exceptional circumstances.

Simple Cautions

A simple caution may be offered as an alternative to prosecution where the Council is satisfied that there is sufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction in respect of the offence/s and that the public interest test would be satisfied by offering a simple caution rather than prosecute.

A simple caution must not be offered to a person who has not made a clear and reliable admission to committing the offence/s. Before the simple caution is administered officers shall ensure the Landlord has made an admission of guilt, understands the implications of accepting a simple caution and consents to accept it.

Prosecutions

Prosecution will be considered where the Council is satisfied that it has sufficient evidence to provide a realistic prospect of conviction and where a prosecution is required in the public interest. When deciding whether to prosecute the Council has regard to this Enforcement Policy and the provisions of The Code for Crown Prosecutors as issued by the Director of Public Prosecutions.

How will the Council choose which type of enforcement action to take?

Where an inspection shows a Category 1 hazard to be present, the Council will take one of the appropriate courses of action specified in The Act. If the hazard(s) do not present an imminent risk to health, the Council will normally try to address offences or hazards by first asking the landlord to comply with their duties and responsibilities and warning them about the consequences of failing to comply. This would usually be achieved through the service of a Hazard Awareness Notice. This will give the property owner a reasonable amount of time to rectify the defects and remove or reduce the hazard to an acceptable level.

If the owner fails to take this action in the specified time, an Improvement Notice will be served. If the owner has a significant record of non-compliance with the Act, then an Improvement Notice will be served immediately without the intermediate stage of service of a Hazard Awareness Notice. An Improvement Notice may also be served immediately if the hazard is considered to be of a serious nature or if there are a number of Category 1 hazards.

Where an inspection identifies Category 2 hazards and these hazards fall into Band D or E of the HHSRS, the same procedure will be followed as when a Category 1 hazard is present.

Where an inspection finds Category 2 hazards in Band F or below, the council will not normally take any further action unless there are exceptional circumstances. For example – where multiple hazards at Band D or below combine to create a more serious situation, where a property appears to be in a dilapidated condition or where the conditions are such as to be affecting the material comfort of an occupying tenant.

If there is a serious risk to the health and safety of the occupiers, then consideration will be given to the service of a Prohibition Order. If this serious risk is imminent, consideration will be given to the service of an Emergency Prohibition Order, or to undertaking Emergency Remedial Action.

Where an offence is serious enough or where the landlord has failed to respond to initial enforcement action, the Council may determine that it is in the public interest to take the highest level of enforcement action available. This can include civil penalties, prosecution, simple caution, banning orders (when they come into force) and interim/final management orders.

To reduce the likelihood of retaliatory eviction, enforcement action will continue until the property is brought up to a satisfactory condition, whether or not the original tenant remains in the property.

Level to which hazards are to be improved

The Housing Act 2004 requires only that the works specified when taking the most appropriate course, reduce a Category 1 hazard to a Category 2 hazard. For example, Band C and Band A hazards need only be reduced to Band D. The Council will generally seek to specify works which achieve a significant reduction in the hazard level and in particular will be to a standard that should ensure that no further intervention should be required for a minimum period of 3 years.

Charging for enforcement activity

There will be a charge for Notices served and Orders made under Part 1 of the Housing Act 2004 (see Fees and Charges Policy). The charge will not be applied until the end of any appeal period contained within the notice. If there is an appeal, then the charge will not be applied until the appeal is resolved and subject to the notice being confirmed by the tribunal.

Where works in default are carried out, an administrative charge of 12% of the cost of the works will be added to the total amount to be recovered.

Land Charges

Certain legal notices served will be registered as a part 1 land charge which will not be removed from the register until it is complied with.

Where works are completed by the Council (as emergency or in default) or a charge is made for the service of notice these notices will be registered as a part 2 land charge, which will not be removed from the register until payment is received.

Land charges will show up on a general land search (for example when searches are made by a purchaser's solicitor if a property is being sold).

Requesting Information

Section 235 of the Housing Act 2004

The Private Sector Housing Team is able to use powers under Section 235 of the Housing Act 2004 to require documentation from any relevant person, to assist the Council with any investigation or function under Parts 1 – 4 of the Housing Act 2004. Failure to comply with a notice under this section is a criminal offence with a maximum fine of £5000.

Section 16 of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976

Section 16 of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 gives the Council the power to issue 'Requisition for Information' notices. When the Council needs to obtain information about a property in respect of which we are proposing to take enforcement action, we will serve a requisition for information notice upon the owner and/or any other person who has a legal interest in it, or who directly or indirectly receives rent, or is authorised to manage or to arrange for its letting. Failure to comply with a notice under this section is a criminal offence with a maximum fine of £5000.

Additional Enforcement Powers

Although housing issues will primarily be dealt with under the Housing Act 2004, there may be circumstances where the use of other legislation is more appropriate.

- Environmental Protection Act 1990 – we will use this to tackle premises that are considered prejudicial to health or a nuisance.
- Building Act 1984, Section 59 – used to deal with defective drainage issues in existing buildings.
- Public Health Acts 1936 and 1961 – we will use these to tackle drainage issues and filthy and verminous premises.
- Prevention of Damage by Pests Act 1949, Section 4 – we will use this to require works necessary where there is potential for an infestation of pests.
- Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1982, Section 29 – This gives the council the power to require the owner to board up a dwelling to prevent unauthorised access, and to carry out the work in default, if the owner fails to comply or cannot be found.
- Housing Act 1985 (As Amended) – Some provisions within the 1985 Act have not been revoked and may be appropriate to use in some circumstances. In particular the overcrowding provisions are still available and may be used where the 2004 Act is not sufficient.
- The Redress Schemes for Lettings Agency Work (Requirement to belong to a scheme etc.) (England) Order 2014 – This order requires a person who engages in property management work to be a member of a redress scheme for dealing with complaints in connection with that work.
- The Smoke and Carbon Monoxide Alarm (England) Regulations 2015 – This can be used where there is not at least one smoke alarm on each storey of a rented property and/or where there is no carbon monoxide detector in a room with a solid fuel burning appliance.

- Energy Efficiency (Private Rented Property) Regulations 2015 (Energy Act 2011) – These regulations make it unlawful for landlords to grant a new tenancy or renew an existing tenancy of a private rented property with an energy performance certificate (EPC) rating of F or G from 1 April 2018 (unless an exemption applies and is registered). From 1 April 2020 it will be unlawful to let any domestic private rented property with an EPC rating of F or G (unless an exemption applies and is registered). Landlords who do not comply with the regulations face a fine of up to £5000.

Tenure

Registered Providers

Registered Providers (RPs) exist to provide suitable and properly maintained accommodation for their tenants. They are managed by Boards (which typically include tenant representatives) and their performance is scrutinised by the Homes and Communities Agency. RPs employ staff to manage and maintain their properties and will usually have written arrangements for reporting problems, setting out the response times they aim to achieve, and detailing the process for registering any complaints about service failure.

On this basis, the Council will seek to deal with RPs in a proportionate manner, classing complaints against RPs as low risk. These complaints will initially be dealt with in writing, without a formal inspection being undertaken.

In exceptional circumstances we may prioritise urgent or serious complaints concerning RP properties. However, the Council must be satisfied that:

- The problem in question has been properly reported to the RP; and
- The RP has then failed to take appropriate action within a reasonable timescale, taking into account its published or other realistic response targets;

Then the Council will inspect and take enforcement action in line with this policy.

Owner Occupied Properties

The council expects that owner-occupiers will take their own action to maintain their homes the requirement to take the most appropriate course of action will be satisfied by the service of a Hazard Awareness Notice.

In some exceptional cases, in line with the HHSRS Enforcement Guidance, it will be necessary to take formal enforcement action. This is likely to be where there is an imminent risk of serious harm to the occupiers themselves or to others, or where the condition of the dwelling is such that it may adversely affect the health and safety of others outside the household.

Part 2 of the Housing Act 2004 – Mandatory Licensing of Houses in Multiple Occupation (HMOs)

In addition to the previously mentioned enforcement options the Council has further powers to ensure adequate standards in HMOs are met and maintained.

The Housing Act 2004 introduced a mandatory scheme to licence HMOs. Mandatory licensing is intended to apply only to larger high risk HMOs of three or more storeys, occupied by five or more people, comprising two or more households.

The HMO licensing regime provides procedures to assess the fitness of a person to be a licence holder, potential management arrangements of the premises and suitability of the property for the number of occupants, including the provision of relevant and adequate equipment and facilities at the property.

It is a criminal offence if a person controlling or managing a HMO does not have the required licence. Breaking any condition of a licence is also an offence.

Interim or Final Management Orders

The Council is under a duty to apply for an interim management order where a property requires a licence, or will after the current one is revoked, but there is no reasonable prospect of it becoming licenced or there are significant health and safety concerns at the property. An interim management order can be made for up to 12 months.

Where an interim management order is coming to an end and the criteria for applying for the order still apply, the Council can apply for a final management order, which can be made for up to 5 years.

Whilst a management order is in place, the Council, or an agent appointed by the Council, will be responsible for managing the property and carrying out any works that are required. The Council will receive the rental income and deduct any relevant expenditure from this amount before transferring the excess, if any remains, to the landlord.

Empty Homes

Interim Empty Dwelling Management Order

An Interim Empty Dwelling Management Order (interim EDMO) is an Order authorised after a successful application to the First Tier Tribunal. The dwelling must have been wholly unoccupied for at least two years and there is no reasonable prospect that the dwelling will become occupied in the near future. An interim EDMO enables the Council to take steps to ensure, with the consent of the owner, that an empty dwelling becomes occupied. An interim EDMO lasts no longer than 12 months.

Final Empty Dwelling Management Order

A Final Empty Dwelling Management Order (Final EDMO) may replace an Interim EDMO if the Council feels that unless a Final EDMO is in place, the dwelling will become or remain empty. Where the dwelling is already unoccupied, the Council must have taken all appropriate steps under the interim EDMO with a view to ensuring that the dwelling becomes occupied. A final EDMO lasts for 7 years. Orders can be varied or revoked in accordance with the provisions of Part 4 of the Act.

Compulsory Purchase

Where the owner of an empty home cannot be found or refuses to take action to secure re-occupation of the dwelling which has been empty for more than XX years and/or is giving rise to problems in the neighbourhood, or compulsory purchase is considered the most appropriate course of action, the Council may consider taking compulsory purchase action.

Enforced Sale

Where a debt in excess of £XX.XX has been registered as a Local Land Charge against a property, and remains unpaid for XXX period of time, where considered appropriate, the Council may commence proceedings to enforce the sale of the property. The proceeds of the sale will be given to the owner less the amount of debt and less the costs incurred by the Council.

Other aspects of Private Sector Housing work

Hoarding

Hoarding situations may be brought to our attention in both the private rented and owner occupied sector. The Council's priority would always be to protect the interests of any vulnerable occupants and work with them engaging other agencies where appropriate to avoid the need for enforcement action. However, there may be circumstances where nuisance is being caused to neighbouring properties and we are under a duty to take enforcement action.

Overcrowding and Immigration

Where residents believe that their property is overcrowded then the Council will assess the property and the current occupation based on information provided to determine if it is statutorily overcrowded. Where this is found to be the case, an inspection will be completed to confirm this.

Where a resident requests the overcrowding inspection because they require it for immigration or UK Visa purposes, then an inspection will be completed to determine if the property is suitable for the total number of potential occupants. This is a chargeable service.

Complaints

In the event that an individual or company is not satisfied with the service or does not agree with the action taken by the investigating officer, they should first contact the Private Sector Housing Manager. A response to the complaint would be expected within 10 working days; if we are unable to respond within 10 working days we will respond and let you know when you can expect a response.

If this does not resolve the complaint the Council also has a formal complaints system. Visit www.allerdale.gov.uk for more details or use any of the following other contact methods:

Monitoring and Review

The Council's Private Sector Housing Manager is responsible for ensuring that officers implement the service in accordance with the Policy. Procedures are in place which include details of how checks are made to ensure compliance with the Policy.

In accordance with the Regulators' Compliance Code, the council will keep its regulatory activities and interventions under review. This document will be reviewed as a minimum every 12 months to take into consideration relevant changes to legislation or other guidance that may affect it.

We endeavour to improve standards, using legal powers where appropriate, in line with our Enforcement Policy and procedures. If we can't help directly, we'll try and signpost you to another organisation who can.

Each case will be assessed on risk. This allows us to prioritise the worst housing conditions for those people who require help the most. If there is an imminent risk to health then the Council must act immediately and cases will aim to be contacted and inspected within 24 hours.

In all other instances, tenants will be encouraged to approach their landlord directly about their complaint. In most circumstances the tenant will be advised to put their complaint in writing and request a reply within 14 days. The tenant will be advised to ensure they put the date on their letter and keep a copy of it. After the 14 day period has expired, and if the landlord has not agreed to carry out any work, the tenant will be advised to contact us again, providing a copy of the letter they sent to their landlord. Standard letter templates will be provided as required.

If the tenant has not received a satisfactory outcome, arrangements will be made to inspect and rate the property using the Housing Health and Safety Rating System. A letter providing notice of entry will be sent to the tenant and landlord. We aim to carry out an inspection within 15 working days.

Complaints against Registered Providers will generally be classed as low risk as they are expected to have their own effective procedures for dealing with disrepair. Such complaints will initially be dealt with without a formal inspection being undertaken.

However, where the Council is satisfied that:

- The problem in question has been properly reported to the RP; and
- The RP has then failed to take appropriate action within a reasonable timescale, taking into account its published or other realistic response targets;

Then the Council will inspect and take enforcement action in line with the Private Sector Housing Enforcement Policy.

Tenants should be advised that the Council are unable to protect them from eviction should they complain, however officers will provide support and advice should this occur.

Following an inspection, a copy of the inspection report will be provided to the landlord and tenant within 10 working days. If immediate enforcement action is required, then this will be discussed at the time of the inspection.

Any works that are required to be undertaken will be detailed within the inspection report along with timescales for this to be completed. Both tenant and landlord will be contacted within one month of any deadline set in the inspection report, in order to arrange access to carry out an inspection of the work that has been undertaken.
